FOREWORD

"All the world's a stage,
And all the men and women merely players.

They have their exits and their entrances;

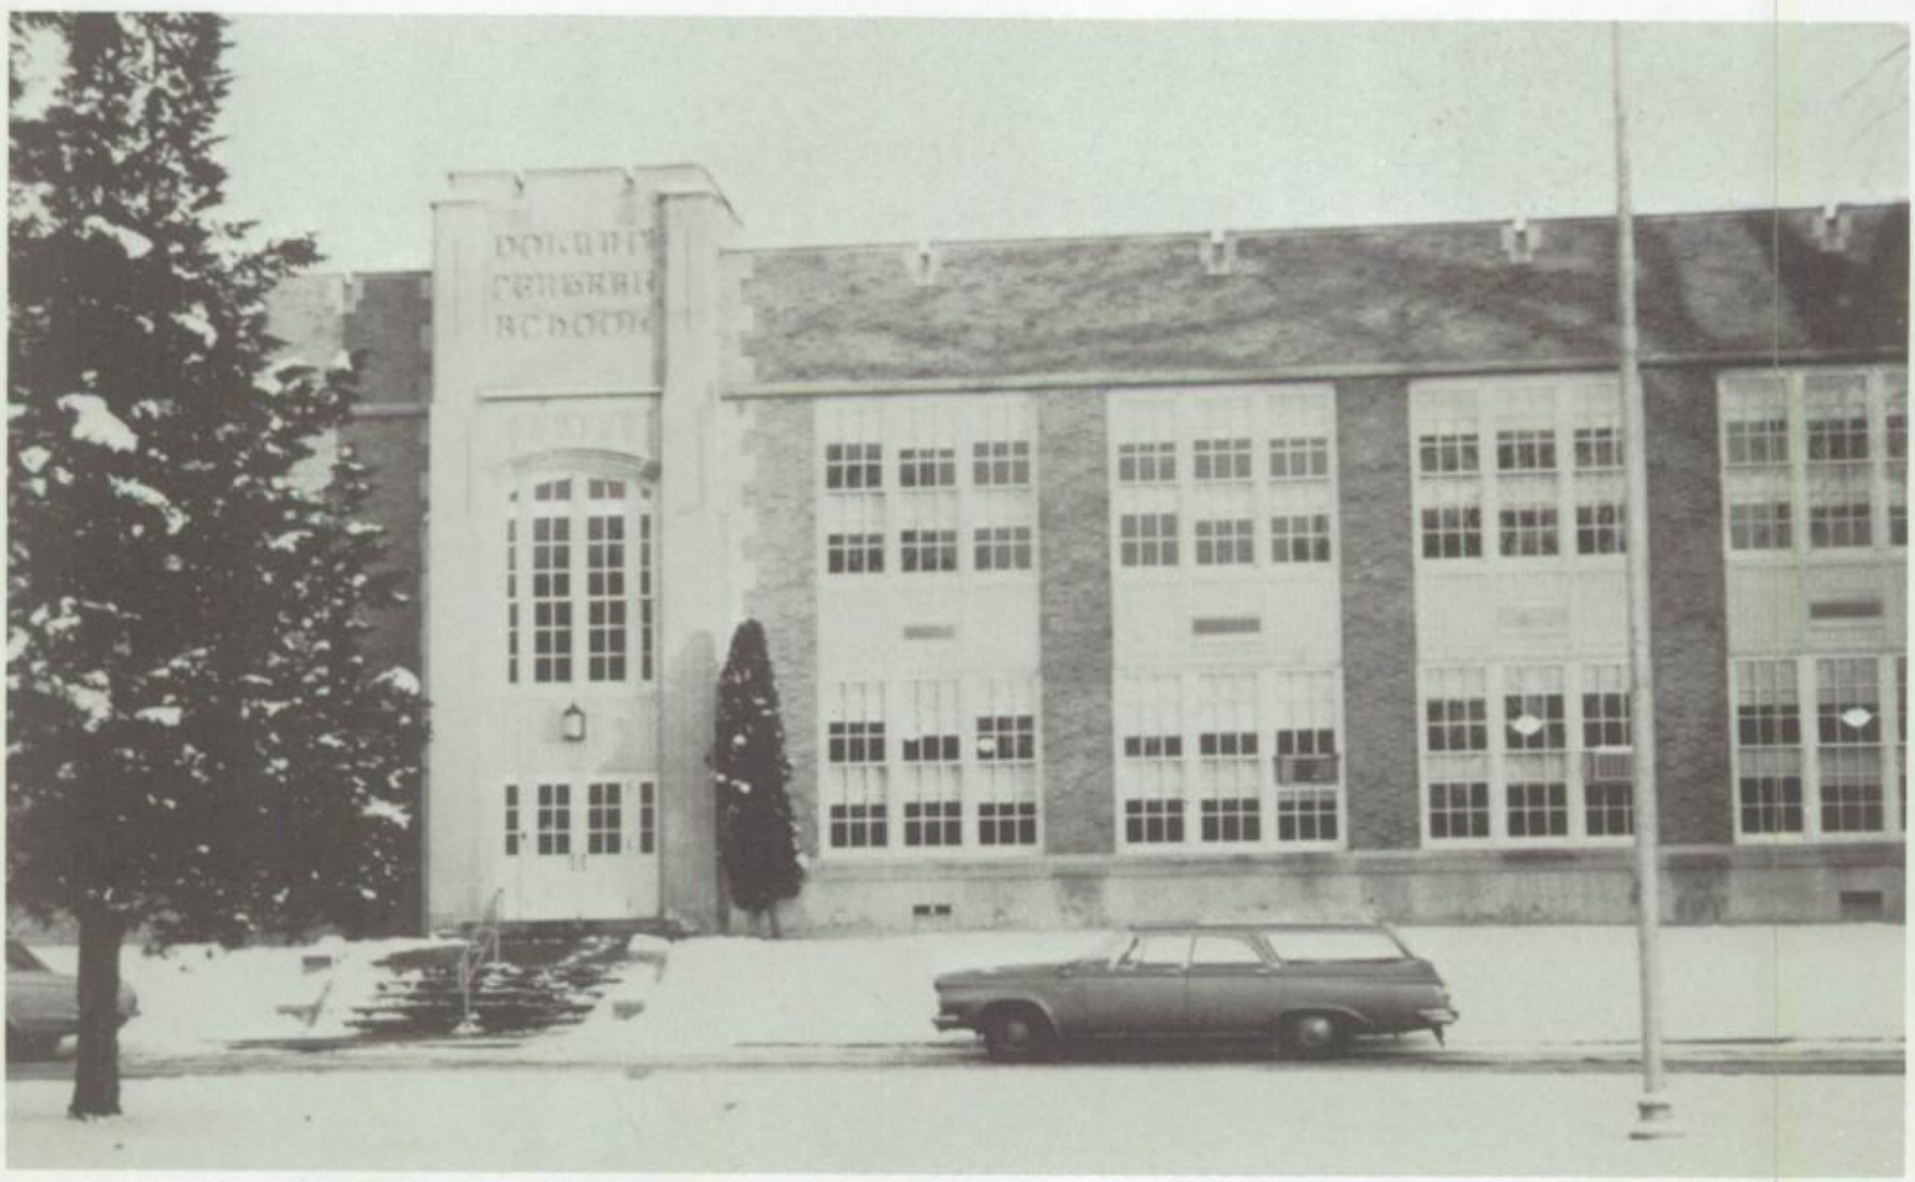
And each man in his time plays many parts,"

For us, the class of 1968, the curtain if falling on one act in the play of life—we are making our final exit from this, our Alma Mater.

Though the curtain is falling, we can still go back and recapture the silhouettes on it through the pages of this, our yearbook. Silhouetted here are the joy we felt when our team was the victor, the pride we experienced when our school was honored, and the sadness we tried to suppress when our days at Poland were coming to an end.

But a yearbook is more than this—it is people. It is the faces of all those with whom we have shared the fantastic adventure of growing; the teachers who have guided us through the difficult years of youth and the friends who have shared our joys and our sorrows.

We, the class of 1968, are preparing to make our entrance into the next act, but here, for today and all the days to come, are the silhouettes of these years at Poland Central School.



EDITOR'S MESSAGE

An editor's message is usually full of highly over-exaggerated phrases and self love. I do not intend to rave hysterically about the merits of Poland Central School, nor do I intend to inflate a simple feeling of satisfaction into a sentimental cloud of "school spirit" and "tradition." These things are obvious and are destroyed if one talks about them too much.

Most of us like this school. It has given the majority of us thirteen long years of education. But there are other reasons why we want to remember Poland Central and why we want this yearbook to aid that memory. They aren't the clouds of "school spirit" and "tradition" which I mentioned above, they are the ordinary things which we have enjoyed here. Things like: a winning basketball season, a successful dance, a speaker at an assembly who was both informative and witty, a heated discussion in our favorite class, endless discussions about boys or girls, which ever the case might be, making new friends, learning something you didn't know before, or unlearning something, which is just as often the case . . . Those exhilarating rides home on the bus. These things are often pleasant enough to deserve memories years later. If this yearbook helps the class of 1968, who is graduating this June, remember, I think our job will have been done.

DEDICATION

To Mr. Edward Jones we, the senior class, dedicate our most prized endeavor—our yearbook, the 1968 "Kuyahooran".

For four years we have known Mr. Jones, not only as a teacher and advisor, but as a friend also.

He has given unstintingly his time, aid, and advice, and through his cooperation and direction has helped us throughout our high school years.

He has enriched our lives by his sound teaching and guidance, and has set an example for us all to follow.

Good-bye, Mr. Jones. May you have many more years of success and happiness. THANK YOU—we shall never forget you.

APPRECIATION

The Senior Class wishes to take this opportunity to express its gratitude and appreciation to Mr. Frank E. Salisbury III for his assistance in the production of this 1968 "Kuyahooran". His friendship, help, and unceasing patience has meant a great deal.

In deep appreciation of Mr. James Hane, algebra teacher and Vice-Principal, we, the class of 1968, wish to express our gratitude and heartfelt thanks. He has always given a helping hand when it was needed. His sense of humor and enthusiasm has endeared him to us. Thank you, Mr. Hane.

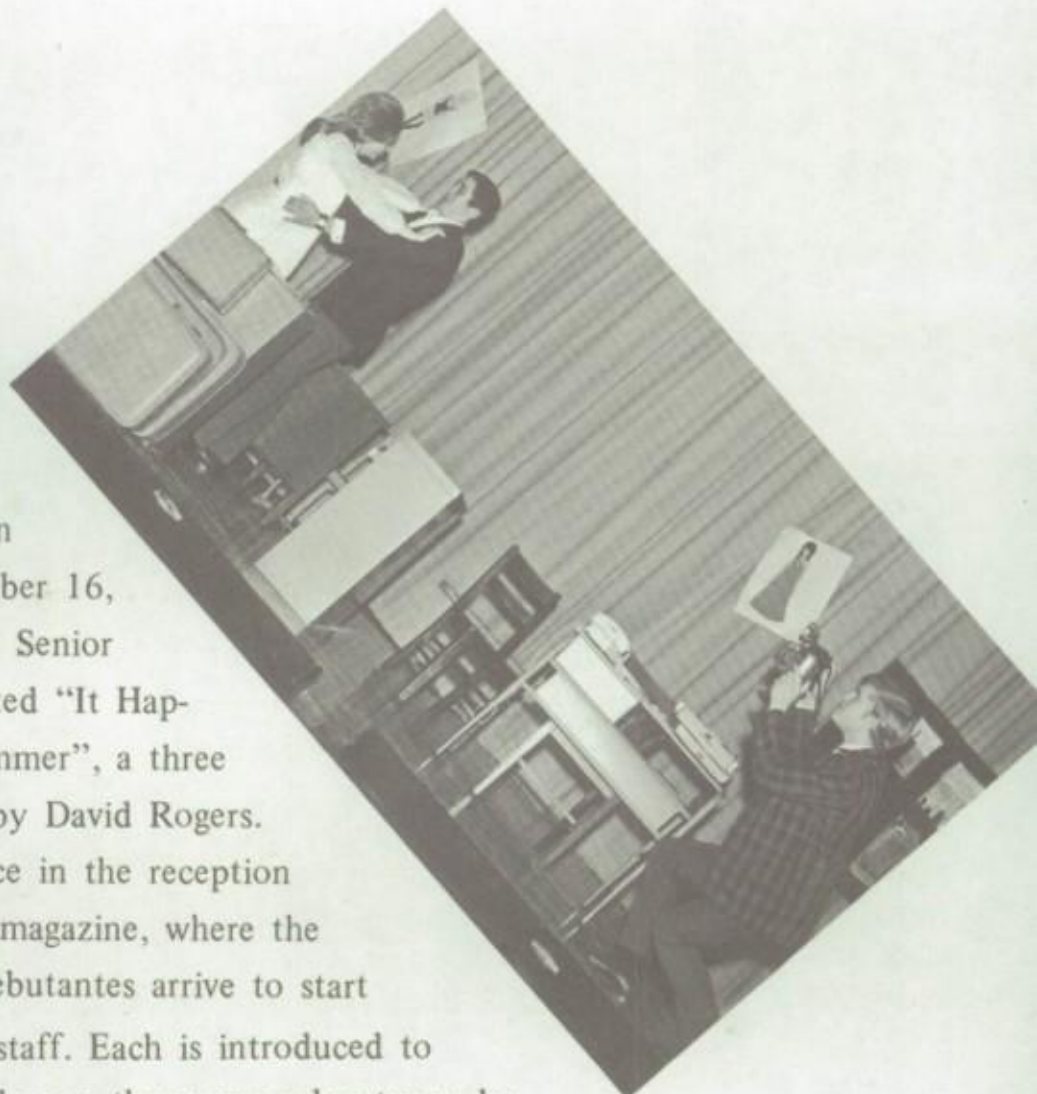
SENIOR PLAY



On November 16, 1967, the Senior Class presented "It Happens Every Summer", a three act comedy play by David Rogers. The action takes place in the reception room of DEBUTANTE magazine, where the young, ambitious, college debutantes arrive to start their month as members of the staff. Each is introduced to her editor and given her duties, and soon the young adventurers begin their work. But, as the play progresses, the debutantes soon learn that the job of working on a magazine involves more than "pressures, deadlines, deadlines, pressures", namely the problems, and usually the heartaches that follow. But, in a comedy, as everyone knows, the ending always has a twist to it, and as a comedy, it proves to be a happy one.

SENIOR WILL

To SUSAN ASHFORTH I, Tom Poplasky, leave the right to be the last one done eating in and leaving the cafeteria, and the right to practice her bassoon embouchure whenever she so desires.

To MICHAEL CASEY I, Mike Kelly, leave the right to cause and enjoy great confusion in any class, and the right to say much and convey little.

To JEFF FARRELL I, John Paul, leave the right to flirt with any girl he pleases, go to any dances he pleases, and go with as many girls as he can at one time.

To SCOTT FLANSBURG I, Tom Flansburg, leave the right to get kicked out of the English room during class for two weeks, and also the right to tell Mr. Salisbury all of his problems.

To EVA HART I, Jerry Hart, leave the right to ride in a certain light blue Ford truck any time she wishes.

To DONNA HINES I, Angela Linke, leave the right to complain about her favorite class and favorite teacher any time she wishes.

To SANDRA LACHUT I, Margaret Wiegand, leave the right to think you're better than any other soprano in chorus and the right to wear her own sneakers.

To JOE LONGSTAFF I, Bill Newman, leave the right to sit on the bench, tell coach off, drive anywhere, and do anything.

To JOHN MAHER I, Linda Maher, leave the right to go to the Tamarack every Saturday night, to swing with the blondes, and peel around in his '58 Chevy.

To TOM NEBUSH I, Dick Lehman, leave the right to run the school as it should be run, to be the school playboy, and to drink off school grounds and be a special friend of a certain school board member.

To KATHY NEWMAN I, her sister Grace, leave the right to drive my car and to confuse her teachers.

To JAMES POTTER I, Ron Burlingame, leave my cousin and the right to drive to night basketball practices without a blue card.

To JOAN REYNOLDS I, Donna Shafer, leave all my lunch bags, the clothes in my closet, the right to drive my brother's truck, and my cousin.

To LINDA RICHARDS I, Sue Slocum, leave the right to form all her own opinions concerning Mr. Monteau's charm, wit, and unprejudiced attitude towards women.

To CORTY THOMPSON I, Cindy Johnson, leave my exceptionally high marks in all my classes and the right to watch over Joan.

To JIMMY WAGONER I, Walter Ozog, leave the right to go out with a certain WCVCS alumnus, R——.

To BONNIE WHEATLEY I, Linda Ritzel, leave the right to eat in Mrs. Lanning's class, to call someone on the telephone in Holland Patent, using a phony Spanish accent, and also the right to earn a carnation at Cobleskill.

To MARLENE YOUNGS I, Donna Dietch, leave the right to occupy the back seat of bus no. 21 during her senior year.

To DEBBIE BECK I, Gail Butts leave those invigorating rides on Bus 18 and the right to give Jeff a good slap for any of his insolent comments.

To MARTY LEIGH I, Harley Hardell leave all the fun in high school.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

To the Class of 1968

In the recent years ahead, this book will serve as a treasurehouse of priceless memories. When the responsibilities and pressures of later adult living begin to weigh you down, your old high school yearbook may remind you of other and often carefree days you spent at PCS. For it was here you acquired basic loyalties and attitudes you will never forget.

Whether you go on to school, into the service of your country, go to work, or raise a family, I wish each of you the best of luck.

Come back and see us!

FOOLIN' AROUND

I'm gonna grind your bones.

Sure I'll help, just let me find a phone booth to change in.

We've got to stop meeting this way!

Get him, he flunked me in math.

I've got the whole world in my hands.

The way I see it boys, we've just got to find more work to evade.

RROWRR! 36-24. . . .

Eek! It's SUPERMAN!

The whoding's connected to the what's-a-majig.

Now I'll really find out if Judy's a true blonde!

How long do I have to hold my breath?

Oh to be young again

Don't bother me, you know I never talk in study hall!

Agh! This tastes like it was made out of silly putty!

OUR FEARLESS LEADER!

Granny Goodwitch?

But, Mom, I promise I'll only have one drink!

Our hero in shorts!

Let's see now, E equals mc2.

ADVISORS MESSAGE

It was not until I assisted in the planning and production of this yearbook that the many hours of work required of the students and the problems involved became apparent to me. I soon realized the importance of a good staff as well as a cooperative and understanding faculty and administration, all of which were available this year.

The patrons, subscribers, and those who purchased ads also deserve recognition for their role in making our 1968 Kuyahooran a success. To these people, as well as to the photographer and publisher, I would like to say "thank you".

I would like to give special recognition to Linda Levesque who, during the middle of the year, accepted the great task of treasurer. She not only did a fine job in keeping our records straight, but also did more than her share selling patrons.

A. J. Amacher deserves recognition for being top "ad" salesman for the year 1968.

Special thanks should be extended to Tom Poplasky for the vast amount of time and effort that he unselfishly contributed in producing this book.

Although I have mentioned several individuals whom I feel deserve special recognition, I am well aware of the time and effort other members of the staff, with the exception of the copy editor, have contributed. To these people may I convey my sincere thanks for their cooperation, their understanding, and their efforts throughout the year.

Sincerely,
Frank E. Salisbury III
